

[BookStrand Western Romance] River is happy and excited about returning home and working beside his father. But when he finds out that the woman he loved as a young man is still unattached, he's thrilled--and sexually hungry. Now that they are both older, he intends to play more than just doctors and nurses. With the means to stop her from becoming pregnant, he plans for them to be lovers. Kai is pleased to run into River, the boy she once loved, but one look into his magnetic brown eyes, and she knows he wants to be more than friends. She can't take the risk. However, after his threat to take another woman as his lover, she finds herself unable to resist. She's not going to let another woman experience the pleasure of his lovemaking. Nevertheless, she isn't going to let him have it all his own way either.  A BookStrand Mainstream Romance
